EXPERIENCE A PANAMA CANAL Man-Made Marvel

The Gatun Locks are the closest to the Atlantic Ocean. Their three chambers lower the ship a total of 85 feet back to sea level.

Next are the Pedro Miguel Locks, whose single chamber raises the ship 31 feet up to Lake Gatun.

The Panama Canal consists of three locks which raise and lower the ship along its journey. The variety of birds and wildlife in the surrounding forest, combined with the feat of engineering that is the canal itself, make for a unique experience best undertaken by sea vessel.

The Miraflores Locks are the closest to Panama City and the Pacific Ocean. After entering the locks, you'll feel their two chambers raise the ship 54 feet above sea level to match Lake Miraflores.
